

NCMFinancial.com releases a new enhanced version of Option Portfolio Pro

Option Portfolio Pro provides new features for option investors. Easily drag and drop option contracts across the screen while the calculators do all of the work.

Dallas, TX (NCM Financial) January 1, 2010 – Option Portfolio Pro gives users the ability to easily calculate option contracts and risk-reward scenarios by dragging and dropping the positions into the calculator. Each separate calculator gives individual users the ability to be long or short puts and call contracts.

NCM Financial offers its Option Portfolio Pro backed by a proven fundamental analysis in a complete package for individual and professional investors. This patent pending Option Portfolio platform and investment research delivers user friendly features, pricing, and unlimited availability for users.

Features:

Customers gain tangible benefits from the time tested, time saving Option Portfolio Pro. The custom software platform used for its filtering capabilities calculates and builds financial models for balanced portfolios. In addition, the balanced portfolio option modeling calculates fundamental sectors through user inputs for instant analysis.

Additional features include sector and subsector analysis for call option contracts and put option contracts. Option investors will be able to see the daily analysis of the markets sentiment based on sectors, leading yield investments for puts and calls, and individual company analysis based on sentiment and open interest based on strikes.

Pricing, Availability, and Location:

Customers gain instant access to the user friendly software and research at www.ncmfinancial.com. The option modeling service is accessible for a monthly fee of $19.99. Under the agreement, the user receives unlimited monthly usage, access to the website 24/7, and an easy entrance to the website for a passive approach to investing in options. For additional information about NCM Financial; visit www.ncmfinancial.com or call (214)-364-3230.

About NCM Financial:

NCM Financial is a leading provider of investment research. NCM Financial provides independent research and software for individual and professional investors to create maximized returns in markets around the world. NCM Financial offers solutions for investors to amplify investment returns and meet their financial goals.

- End -